He missed saving the last one.

If we lose the match, they'll all blame him for not saving this one.

Presentation

When one verb follows another, we use different verb patterns:

- verb + to infinitive

We couldn't afford to take a holiday this year.

Other verbs include: expect, fail, pretend, seem, tend, want.

- verb + object + to infinitive

The teacher encouraged them to work harder.

Other verbs include: advise, force, require, want, warn.

- verb + object + infinitive (without to)

My manager let me leave early today.

Other verbs include: help, see, hear.

- verb + -ing form

Don't risk parking your car here.

Other verbs include: avoid, dislike, mention, miss, recommend, suggest.

- verb + infinitive or an -ing form (1)

Some verbs follow this pattern with little or no change in their meaning.

She started to leave when the phone rang.

She started leaving when the phone rang.

Common verbs include: begin, continue, like, love, hate, prefer.

- verb + infinitive or an -ing form (2)

Some verbs have a change in their meaning.

I forgot/remembered to set my alarm clock last night.
(= to talk about an action which was necessary)

I forgot/remember setting my alarm clock last night.
(= to talk about a memory)

Other verbs include: mean, regret, stop, try.

- verb + preposition + -ing form

The customer complained about receiving the delivery two months after the order.

Other verbs include: insist on, rely on, succeeded in, think about, worry about.

- verb + object + preposition + -ing form

The neighbour accused him of throwing rubbish into his garden.

Other verbs include: blame (someone) for, criticise (someone) for, discourage (someone) from, prevent (someone) from.

- verb + that + clause

Sometimes a that-clause can be used instead of the infinitive or -ing form. That can be omitted.

The film star claimed to be ill. = The film star claimed (that) she was ill.

However, it is not always possible, e.g. He wanted me to come. (don't say: He wanted that I come.)

- perfect and passive forms

The gerund and -ing forms can also have perfect and passive forms

I hoped to be awarded first prize.

We don't like being lied to.

They regret being found guilty.
